Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; no cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. ## SICKLY CHILD

Made Well By Vinol—Letters from a Grateful Mother

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl, ever since her birth, was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good until we tried your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as she commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)

Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I can not say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim.

JUICE OF THE POPPY.

The Flowers are Lanced to Obtain the Crude Opium.

It is probable that few owners of flower beds are aware that the poppies they cultivate purely for ornament will, if treated correctly, produce opium. When the flower petals have fallen, leaving the seed capsule bare, there will exude, if an incision is made in that body, a sticky juice. This juice is opium. It varies in certain chemical qualities according to the country wherein it is cultivated and the variety of plant wherefrom it is produced.

Although the poppy will grow in almost any climate, it is in the east it is most successfully cultivated. When the land has been plowed and harrowed the poppy seed is sown, about six pounds of seed being sufficient for one third of an acre. Just as soon as it begins to germinate, about a week after sowing in certain localities, the land is divided by furrows into rectangular beds about eight feet in length by four in breadth. These channels are employed for irrigation, as the plants need frequent watering, sometimes even until the time of maturity.

About two months and a half after germination the flower appears, and its four petals are gently removed on the third day after their expansion, to be pasted together with the leaves destined to form the outer shell of the opium cake. Then after about eight or ten days the capsules are lanced—at night—and the juice which has exuded from the incisions is scraped off in the morning with a small scoop and transferred to a metal or earthen vessel. This process is repeated three or four times at intervals of two or three days, the result being pure opium. The flower petals, the plant leaves and the stalks have also a considerable value for packing purposes. The thicker portions of the stalk are used by natives for firewood.

The crude opium having been gathered, it is stored by the natives and carefully watched and examined from time to time in order that no mold or stain may attack it. Finally the opium is made into cakes, dried, packed in boxes and removed to market for sale.

BONEHEAD BASEBALL.

This Was About the Richest Double Play Ever Perpetrated.

Double boneheads are rare in baseball—scarce than haw teeth, and naturally so, for the completion of a bonehead requires vigilance and quick thinking by the opposition. Still, double boneheads happen over and over, the most famous one possibly being that pulled by Cossy Dolan and Harry Gessler at Chicago several years ago.

On this occasion Dolan had reached second in the ninth, and one was down, the score at the time being in favor of the Cubs by a one run margin. The next batter hoisted a long fly over center field. Gessler grabbed the ball and, deciding that it was the third out, tucked the ball in his pocket and flew for the clubhouse.

Dolan, instead of taking advantage of the break to score the tying run, also figured that it was the third out and followed Gessler across the field, while a raving mob of players from both teams, surrounding them, tried to impress the horror of the situation upon them.

Artie Hofman finally took the ball away from Gessler, chased Dolan to the clubhouse and made the putout at the edge of the bathtub. That was the richest double break on record, but there have been a few others almost as funny.

A Mean Retort.
"If you don't stop talking," cautioned the husband, "I'll not be able to catch any fish." "That's funny," answered the wife. "When a girl angles for a husband she has to talk a great deal." "I know. But there's a difference between fish and husbands."

GUIDEPOSTS ON THE ROAD TO BUSINESS SUCCESS.

If you cannot make your fortune in the same place and in the same way some other man has done, make it in a new place and a new way.

The nail of a good precept always needs the hammer of practice to drive it in.

Minutes are to hours what the pennies are to dollars, and he wins who saves both.

It is not the position a man fills so much as the way he fills it that stamps upon him the mark of his quality.

It is all a building process—the rock is built of atoms, the tree is built of cells, the house is built of bricks, success is built of conquered details.

The one who specializes and becomes proficient—in fact, expert—in a single line is surely a winner. He can always find a place at the top notch salary.

PAY FOR HONEST SERVICE.

Retail Merchant's Right to Protection From Unfair Competition.

Speaking recently before a state convention of retail merchants, a representative of a firm manufacturing a widely advertised food product said:

"If co-operation is to be of a loyal and sincere sort we must recognize the right of every one in the chain of distribution to an honest profit. Not even the consumer has any right to object to the honest profits of the merchant who gives him honest service. No one who will carefully study the relation of profits to service can escape the conviction that public economy is best served by the policy of 'live and let live.'"

"The argument of the mail order house, chain store and department store that elimination of the middleman would be economical to the consumer is absolutely false. Such institutions, taken broadly, are enemies rather than friends of the consumer, just as they are of the retailer. If they hold as rigidly to strict truth and fairness as the retail grocer does they would die an early death."

"Nothing has contributed to the existence of these irregular mongrel classes so much as favoritism, but even this is slowly getting a hold on thinking retailers. Quantity prices have made possible every one of the unfair practices of the trade. If you can buy ten cases more cheaply than one it is fair to sell 100 cases more cheaply than ten and a carload at a lower price still. But such practices inevitably make it possible for the big buyer to own goods more cheaply than his small competitor. If mail order houses paid the same price for their goods that the small merchant does they wouldn't last a year, because the small merchant is the consumer's friend and with a square deal will beat any catalogue house out of existence in his town in the game of competition."

SEPARATE YOUNG PUPILS.

Older High School Students' Tendency to Overdress is Harmful.

There is a tendency of the part of the older high school pupils to overdress and adopt the styles and fashions that make them seem more mature in nature and appearance. The younger pupils are quick to imitate the dress and manners of their older schoolmates.

This leads them into indiscretions and robs them of an important part of childhood. The expense of overdressing falls heavily upon most families and tends to discourage many parents from keeping their children in school.

These assertions are made in a circular of information just issued for free distribution by the United States bureau of education, which deals with an educational experiment at Dayton, O., whereby the school children are segregated in a special high school for their first year after graduation from grammar school.

"In this school," says the circular of information, "there are no older pupils, and the simplicity of childhood is maintained in dress and manner for another year. The children are able to develop more naturally without the influence of older pupils." The bureau of education's circular of information was written by J. H. Painter, principal of the first year high school at Dayton.

LIQUID SOAP FOR SCHOOLS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., to Do Away With the Bar Kind.

That the community bars of soap provided in the school buildings of Fort Wayne, Ind., for lathering the faces of young hoppers are unhealthful and unsanitary is the contention of the local health authorities, who will urge the school board to adopt the liquid soap scheme for dirt removing.

There is no ruling by the state board of health on which to base an action of this sort, and as a result the local health department will simply request the school board to adopt this health precaution.

Need Anti-pollution Order.

Having been repeatedly warned by the state board of health that the sewage disposal plant must be placed in proper working order and kept that way to stop the pollution of the Maurice river, the Millville (N. J.) authorities have at last employed a watchman to be on constant duty at the plant. The city officials will do all possible to have pollution of the stream immediately abated.
